FLOOR DEBATE

January 17, 2002 LB 824

SENATOR FOLEY: Should not be legal. I agree with you and I think this is an area where we can find common ground, pro-life and "pro-female" or pro-choice, whichever...whichever term you prefer.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, I've agreed to that in the beginning. I just don't agree when you want to make the fetus an individual person in its own right.

SENATOR FOLEY: So if a woman...a woman determines, she...she gets her drugstore kit and she determines she's pregnant, she's very excited about it, this may be her first pregnancy and, who knows, she may have been trying for a long time. Some couples struggle with this. It becomes a great burden to them trying to achieve...

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Agreed.

SENATOR FOLEY: ...a pregnancy. And ultimately she's...she succeeded in achieving a pregnancy. With great joy, she's determined to carry the pregnancy through to term, and a third party takes an action against her in the early stages and ends that pregnancy. We...we would never want to legalize that, would we?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I've never said that. I said punish, and not just punish as the law says now, but to enhance the punishment.

SENATOR FOLEY: But there are...there are certain techniques that one can use to end someone else's pregnancy.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Well, if it can be ended and nobody can detect it then this bill does not have any application anyway.

SENATOR FOLEY: Thank you, Senator Chambers. I think I...I think I understand where you're coming from. (Laugh) The point here is, obviously, there are cases, as rare as they may be, there are cases where third parties administer drugs to a pregnant woman because he doesn't want her to proceed with the pregnancy and he deliberately acts to end that pregnancy. Certainly no one would want to legalize a third party making a
